Good Morning,

I am pleased to announce that tonight's presentation of "Ain't I a Woman" will be livestreamed for those who are not able to attend in person. You can access the livestream at the bottom of the new article on the Cerro Coso home page or by clicking on the link below. Faculty please share this email with your students so they may also watch from home if they wish. I apologize for the late notice on this however we needed to work out some last minute technical issues to enable the livestream.

Author/Entrepreneur Odell Bizzell visits CCCC April 11

Thursday, March 30, 2017

Cerro Coso Community College is delighted to welcome noted author, blogger, entrepreneur, and speaker Odell Bizzell to the Ridgecrest campus on April 11 to share his story of success and passion.

Through his powerful interactive presentation attendees will learn ways to overcome negativity and unfairness in society and practical strategies to cure systematic oppression in their micro-communities. The event begins at 4:30 p.m. in the College Gymnasium.

Bizzell's brand of presentations are often referred to as 'inspirational comedy' since he both entertains and enlightens his audience with compelling and comical stories and inspirational anecdotes. His main premise is that life truly is a competition and the reason why most people do not achieve what they want is because they don't recognize they are even in a battle. Bizzell not only helps his audience see the battle, but his unique presentations help them win.

While in high school Odell started a small candy retail distribution center that earned him over $75,000 while earning an academic scholarship to college. Bizzell has been featured in the USA Today, "Yahoo Finance," "CNBC.com," and over 200 media outlets. He's also the author of four books and is a nationally recognized voice in perseverance training, self-mastery, and leadership. He has presented on the same stages as Super Bowl winning coach Jim Caldwell, Senior Political Advisor for the Obama administration Dave Axelrod, Dave Letterman, & Oprah Winfrey.

His message of purpose, self-mastery, and motivation coupled with his happy-go-lucky attitude makes him just as popular with audiences today as he was in high school. Since taking his story on the road in 2008, he's reached students at more than 150 college campuses throughout the eastern United States.

Bizzell's presentation will begin at 4:30 p.m. in the Gymnasium and doors will open at 4 p.m. The event is a Student Services United Club event and is FREE and open to the public.
